

CINEDIGM'S FLATIRON FILM COMPANY RELEASES
"DEAD MAN'S BURDEN," JUNE 11 ON CABLE VOD, DIGITAL DOWNLOAD AND DVD

The year is 1870, and a fragmented America still strains to pick up the pieces from a savage Civil War. Martha (Clare Bowen, Nashville) and her husband, Heck (David Call, Fringe), are living on a homestead in rural New Mexico struggling to make due. When a mining company expresses interest in buying their land, Martha and Heck see their ticket to a better life.

Their hopeful plans are complicated when Martha's oldest brother Wade (Barlow Jacobs, Shotgun Stories)—whom she thought lost in the war—returns to the family homestead after learning of their father's death. A defector to the Union Army, Wade soon discovers Martha is hiding secrets of her own, and tensions mount as clashing convictions begin to overshadow their desire to reconcile.

Flatiron Film Company, a label of Cinedigm (NASDAQ: CIDM), will release DEAD MAN'S BURDEN on June 11 on cable VOD, digital download and DVD following its theatrical release on May 3.
