

A MAN NAMED PEARL

“Not only makes you want to get out there and play Edward Scissorhands but can help replenish one’s faith in humanity.”

— Los Angeles Times

The inspirational true story about a real-life Edward Scissorhands

When Pearl Fryar and his wife sought to buy a house in an all-white neighborhood of Bishopville, SC, they were dissuaded with the explanation that “Black people don’t keep up their yards.” Remarkably, instead of fueling bitterness and anger, this comment motivated Pearl to win the Bishopville “Yard of the Month Award,” and, eventually, to transform his ordinary suburban yard into a horticultural wonderland. The garden’s topiary centerpiece emblazons both its message and Pearl’s own philosophy: “Love, Peace, and Goodwill.”

Stirring and profoundly uplifting, A MAN NAMED PEARL chronicles the story of Pearl’s magical garden as well as his extraordinary life, both of which serve as inspirations to his family, his community, and the thousands of visitors who come to experience Pearl’s world each year.

- A limited 2008 theatrical release in 20 top markets including New York and Los Angeles.
- Pearl Fryar’s extraordinary story has been featured in national print and TV, including The New York Times and CBS Sunday Morning.
- With a “G” rating by the MPAA and an endorsement from the National Council of Churches, this film is the perfect choice for wholesome family viewing.
