

SHOCKWAVE

THE COMPLETE SEASON ONE

HISTORY™ uncovers the stories behind some of the world's most shocking catastrophes

A hiker stranded on Mt. Hood is about to be saved when his rescue helicopter suddenly crashes into the mountain, and the disaster is captured live on video. A missile misfires on the USS Forrestal, careening into the fighter planes on deck, and the action is recorded in real time. From a catastrophic bridge collapse in Minneapolis to a tourist in Oahu being dragged out to sea, headline-making events around the world are increasingly caught on tape, by cell phones, surveillance systems, or by the occasional lucky news cameraman.

SHOCKWAVE, a groundbreaking new series, reveals the best of this raw footage. Using the latest digital technology, HISTORY™ analyzes these shocking videos and creates astonishing three-dimensional models that help us understand how—and why—some of the world's most awe-inspiring catastrophes happened.

- HISTORY™ introduces a new genre of super-real TV using actual disaster footage from the most devastating headline-making events.
- HISTORY™ uses the latest in graphics technology to dissect the raw footage, revealing astonishing 3-D views and explanations for what really happened in these major catastrophes.
- Personal video footage from camcorders and cell phone cameras is becoming an increasingly popular genre of media, as evidenced by the mass appeal of YouTube and the top theatrical debut of Vantage Point.
