

Michael Apted's Married in America 2

"Riveting" – The New York Post

A fascinating peek behind the veil of what it means to be married in America

From award-winning director Michael Apted, MARRIED IN AMERICA 2 is the second part in the acclaimed series that examines what it means to be married in the United States. In 2001, Apted filmed the first installment, which featured nine very different soon-to-be-married couples discussing their dreams for the future. Five years later, Apted revisited them to find out how their relationships progressed in the first few years of married life. Sharply and intimately directed, MARRIED IN AMERICA 2 candidly lifts the veil on the institution of marriage and what compels people to tie the knot.

- Premiered on Hallmark Entertainment, May 2007.
- Directed by award-winning filmmaker Michael Apted (7-UP series, The World is Not Enough, Gorillas in the Mist).
- Profiles nine couples over ten years in the style inspired by Apted's famous 7-UP series.
- Examines the timely topic of the state of marriage in present-day America.
