MY KNEES WERE JUMPING

Remembering The Kindertransport

Nominated for a Grand Jury Prize at Sundance, MY KNEES WERE JUMPING is the first feature-length documentary to reveal the heart-wrenching story behind the Kindertransport. A powerful account of this astonishing slice of Holocaust history, it is told with poignant intimacy by the daughter of a survivor.

Narrated by screen legend Joanne Woodward, MY KNEES WERE JUMPING weaves personal first-hand accounts with extraordinary archival footage to reveal the incredible impact of this British refugee policy that saved over 10,000 Jewish children during World War II. From grappling with the guilt of survival to the fear of abandonment that still haunts them to this day, the survivors' unforgettable stories will leave few unchanged.

- The first feature-length documentary to reveal the heart-wrenching story behind the Kindertransport movement.
- Made with rare intimacy by filmmaker Melissa Hacker, daughter of a survivor (Ruth Worley, Academy Award®-nominated costume designer behind Annie Hall, Tootsie, and The Miracle Worker).
- Grand Jury Prize Nominee, Sundance Film Festival.
- Narrated by screen legend Joanne Woodward.
