NEW RELEASE: ARTHOUSE FILMS

SYNOPSIS OBSCENE is the definitive film biography of Barney Rosset, the influential publisher of Grove Press and The Evergreen Review, who battled the highest courts to overrule the obscenity ban on novels such as Lady Chatterley's Lover, Tropic of Cancer and Naked Lunch. But the same unyielding and reckless energy Rosset used to publish and distribute controversial works also brought him perilously close to destruction.

OBSCENE: A PORTRAIT OF BARNEY ROSSET AND GROVE PRESS

The definitive biography of the publisher who brought America its most shocking literature

- A legend in the field, Rosset was the first American publisher of such acclaimed authors as Samuel Beckett, Tom Stoppard and Malcolm X, and such controversial books as Lady Chatterley's Lover, Tropic of Cancer, The Naked Lunch and Howl.
- Includes interviews with John Waters, Gore Vidal, Ray Manzarek of The Doors, Erica Jong, and John Sayles.
- Features an all-star soundtrack of music by Bob Dylan, The Doors, Warren Zevon, Jim Carroll, X, and Patti Smith, along with never-before-seen footage.
