BEST DOCUMENTARY FEATURE

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

THE JAPANESE-AMERICAN INTERNMENT CASES

A Film by Steven Okazaki

An Academy Award® Nominee for Best Documentary Feature, UNFINISHED BUSINESS is "the most powerful and comprehensive film yet on the internment of Japanese Americans during World War II" (Los Angeles Times). In the spring of 1942, more than 110,000 American citizens of Japanese ancestry were uprooted from their lives and incarcerated in relocation camps. UNFINISHED BUSINESS is the story of three Japanese-American resisters who defied the government and refused to go, resulting in their conviction and imprisonment. The film interweaves their personal stories with archival footage of wartime anti-Japanese hysteria, the evacuation and incarceration, and life at the camps. Following the men 40 years later as they fight to overturn their original convictions, UNFINISHED BUSINESS is a gripping study of a tragic—and significant—period in American history.
