

ACADEMY AWARD® NOMINEE

BEST DOCUMENTARY FEATURE

colors straight up

Vibrantly engrossing and powerful, Academy Award® nominee COLORS STRAIGHT UP offers a wholly inspiring look at the lives of inner-city children who are beating the odds through creative performance. Growing up with gunshots for lullabies on the strife-filled streets of Watts in downtown L.A., kids like Stanley, Oscar and LaToya are courageously re-discovering their talents and self-respect; as the backbone of an after-school performing arts group they are finding a second family and a safe place to dance, act and express their problems.

Affectionately directed by award winning filmmaker Michele Ohayon, COLORS STRAIGHT UP follows this spirited collective throughout a year of obstacles and successes, laughs and tears, dances and funerals, providing unusually intimate depth into their personal and emotional struggles.

- Academy Award® nominee for Best Documentary
- National Television Premiere on PBS
- Art House theatrical release
- Rave reviews across the board including praise from Los Angeles Times and Variety
