

Voices of Civil Rights

America's defining hour

From the fearless resolve of a single woman to the remarkable voice of thousands marching, VOICES OF CIVIL RIGHTS offers a stunning overview of one of America's greatest defining periods.

Rising from the inequalities of desegregation and the harsh injustices of the Jim Crow laws, the Civil Rights Movement reached its heights in the mid-1960s. Courageous individuals like Rosa Parks, Medgar Evers, and Martin Luther King, Jr. became some of the brightest lights in American history, leading a nation where it needed to go. Others, like Viola Liuzzo, a housewife from Michigan and the only white woman to be murdered during the civil rights era, are remembered once again.

- A definitive compendium of six powerful documentaries outlining the lives and events surrounding the Civil Rights Movement on DVD for the first time.
- Released in time for Black History Month.
- Crossing the Bridge received a 2002 Emmy® Award Nominee for Outstanding Historical Documentary.
